

CASE STUDY

Website Design & Development

Red Mills was a successful project that led to another opportunity with the same client. After the success of Red Mills, the client approached the team with a new request - to revamp their brand, Foreign Equine.

The old website was outdated and had numerous issues such as redirects, disallowed information, and poor content. The team took on the challenge and implemented a new design and structure using WordPress for the UK, Ireland, USA, Germany, Sweden, and France.

Additionally, the team did content translation and on-page activities. The result was impressive, and the client was pleased with the outcome. Both Red Mills Horse and Foreign Equine websites were met with great admiration and have been successful in generating leads.
